

LUND UNIVERSITY

Faculty of Social Sciences

The Department of Human Geography

Human Ecology Division

Syllabus

SAHE002

Reading course in Central Theory in Human Ecology (Central humanekologisk teori)

A. Third cycle course: 7,5 higher education credits

The course was adopted and the syllabus approved by the Board of the Department of Human Geography, Lund University, 2015-05-05. This syllabus is valid from 2015-08-31.

B. Course Details.

The course is offered as a single subject course at the PhD level.

The language of instruction is Swedish or English.

C. Learning Outcomes.

On completion of the course, the student shall be able to:

- demonstrate knowledge and understanding of central theoretical issues in Human Ecology
- critically examine different theoretical contributions to Human Ecology
- discuss key theoretical concepts in Human Ecology
- evaluate major theoretical developments within Human Ecology

D. Course Content

The course offers insights into central theoretical issues within Human Ecology, particularly in relation to the thesis topic of the student.

E. Teaching and Assessment

The student shall read a selection of key theoretical contributions to Human Ecology, chosen jointly by student and supervisors and approved by the examiner. At the end of the course, the student will present an essay in which the literature is analysed and evaluated, to demonstrate the fulfilment of learning outcomes. The essay may serve as draft for a thesis chapter.

F. Grades

The grades awarded are Pass or Fail. To receive Pass, the student must fulfil the learning outcomes and participate actively in the course.

G. Admission Requirements.

Applicants must be Ph.D. students in the discipline.

H. Literature

Literature is selected jointly by student and supervisors and should be approved by the examiner.